

Leigh M. Skipper is the Chief Federal Defender for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. He is responsible for the management of staff who represent indigent persons charged with federal offenses. The office represents clients at all levels of proceedings, including trials, appeals, grand jury matters, petty offenses, misdemeanors, felonies and capital post-conviction appeals. Mr. Skipper obtained his B.S. in Finance from the University of Connecticut and his J.D. from the Howard University School of Law.