Christian Grostic is an Assistant Federal Public Defender with the Federal Public Defender's Office for the Northern District of Ohio. Prior to joining the federal defender's office in 2018, he practiced civil and white-collar criminal litigation and appeals for nine years with the law firm of Kushner & Hamed, later Kushner, Hamed & Grostic. While an associate and then partner at that firm, he was recognized as a leading lawyer in the areas of business litigation, white-collar criminal defense, and appeals for several years by Ohio Super Lawyers.

Before his time in private practice, Chris was a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice's Commercial Litigation Branch, which he joined through the Attorney General's Honors Program, and a law clerk to the Honorable Karen Nelson Moore of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. He is an adjunct professor at Case Western Reserve University School of Law and a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School.
